Strong Move Afoot to Get Voters to OK Man, Not Party

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Would you rather vote for a particular candidate, or vote for all candidates of one political party by placing your "x" at the top of the ballot?

This is a question Ohioans may have to decide at next November's election.

A powerful campaign—backed by a group of Republicans—was under way in the state today to make Ohioans vote for the candidate instead of the political party.

The proposal would abolish the straight-ticket voting system under which a voter can mark "x" at the top of a ballot and thereby vote for all the candidates of one party.

Substituting for that system would be the Massachusetts ballot system which requires the voter to mark an "x" beside the name of each candidate for whom he wishes to vote.

It was the opinion of some Ohio Democrats that the campaign is aimed at preventing popular Gov. Frank J. Lausche from "carrying" lesser-known party candidates into office.

PETITIONS ISSUED

The secretary of state's office reported 77,000 initiative petitions were issued at the request of proponents of the Massachusetts type ballot. A dozen stenographers are at work on an original order of 100,000 petitions. An additional 40,000 are on order.

Circulators of the petitions must file 301,829 valid signatures to place the ballot change question before voters in the November election. That figure is 10 per cent of the total vote for governor last year.

In Massachusetts, the ballot groups together all candidates for each office. The party affiliation of each aspirant is listed after his name. That precludes "straight ticket" voting as practiced under the present party column ballot.

Raps Labor Government

WOLVERHAMPTON, Eng. — (AP) — Winston Churchill asserted today that the British labor government has led Britain into imminent peril" of communism and national bankruptcy.

The Conservative party leader said an economic collapse is looming which would "carry many other nations with us into chaos and communism."

In a major policy speech prepared for a party rally at the Wolverhampton football stadium, Churchill declared the Socialists have failed to put forth any effective plan to meet the danger.

The wartime prime minister's address came on the heels of the Conservative party's 20,000-word statement of policy entitled the "Right Road for Britain" which was published last night.

"They have squandered the reserves and resources which had been gathered in the past," said the 74 - year old wartime prime minister, "and have darkened and narrowed the future of every man, woman and child in this famous island."

He said every other country west of the iron curtain has made a better postwar comeback than Britain — even beaten Germany and Italy.

Heeds Advice, Takes Plunge

CHICAGO — (INS) — Jack Clark, 59, a box salesman, was slated to appear in a Chicago court today to tell why he was so agreeable.

Clark is a man who literally followed a suggestion to "go jump in the lake." The captain of a sightseeing boat, the Sea King, made the suggestion when he refused to sell Clark a ticket because Clark's condition "was rather damp" — from alcohol.

So Clark jumped into the water — not the lake but the Chicago River. The Captain, John Goessling, leaped in after him and fished him out

The agreeable Mr. Clark found himself charged with disorderly conduct.

Installing Fireproof Ceilings

Hospital Acts On State Order

Workmen today began installing new fireproof ceilings in ground floor rooms at Mansfield General hospital.

Fred Haag, hospital maintenance engineer, said the work was ordered yesterday immediately upon receipt of a directive from the state Department of Inustrial Relations.

The directive said celotex and wood ceilings should be replaced with fire resistant material and that electrically operated fire alarms be installed in the hospital and nurses home. It also recommended that the fire alarm system be connected with central fire station.

The first floor of the hospital includes two emergency rooms, an x-ray room, a laboratory and six dining rooms. The floor above it has 50 rooms and facilities for 106 patients.

State Director Albert A. Woldman gave the hospital 90 days to "remove the present ceiling in all rooms and corridors on the first floor. The institution was ordered to put in plaster over metal lath with metal channels for wiring.

The fire alarm is to be an electrically operated and so designed that if it gets out of order a signal will flash on the control panel. All alarm sounding devices are to be of a type that can be heard in all parts of the building.

The inspection was made by Inspector Aaron T. Baughman on June 22.

Ten Pounds Of Bananas Join Marines

CINCINNATI — (INS) — Ten pounds of bananas joined the United States Marine Corps today.

The bananas were inside Glenn Bathalter, 18 - year - old Cincinnatian who first tried to join the marines three years ago. He was then 22 pounds shy of the marines' minimum weight of 148 pounds.

Yesterday — his 18th birthday — he tried again. Still seven pounds shy.

So Glenn asked the recruiting sergeant to wait, sent out for ten pounds of bananas, and started eating at 11:30.

At two o'clock a bloated boy stepped on the scales. A marine stepped off.

Goes To Chair For Murders

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Gaunt, gray James C. Osinski stumbled to the death chair in Ohio penitentiary last night to pay with his life for the murder of his wife and her parents.

Also on his conscience as he sat waiting for a shattering wave of electricity to jolt him into oblivion must have been the death of his 18 - month - old son, John, whom Osinski deserted and left to die of exposure in the house with the adult victims of his gunfire.

Osinski, 40 - year - old Toledoan, entered the death chamber last night at 8:02 p. m. At 8:10 p. m. he was pronounced dead.

Supervisor Gets Leave

Mrs. McMichael To Go To Cleveland

Katherine McMichael, case work supervisor for the Richland county Department of Public Welfare, today was granted a year's leave of absence by the county commissioners.

Letters requesting the leave went to the county commissioners as administrators of the Aid to the Blind program and to Probate - Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cram era administrator of the Aid to Dependent Children program. The department handles both programs.

Mrs. McMichael, employed in the department since 1936, said she had an offer with a private social service agency in Cleveland. Guy F. Stewart, chairman of the county commissioners, said today they had granted the leave. Judge Cramer said he had not acted on the request.

Her letters asked that the leave take effect Sept. 15. Judge Cramer said Mrs. McMichael's work had proved to be "very satisfactory," and he disliked to see her leave the department.

Before going with the department when it was started in 1936, she had worked at the relief office for two years.

Truman Invited To Convention of DAV

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Corregidor and Bataan, has invited President Truman to attend the annual convention of the Disabled American Veterans in Cleveland Aug. 15 to 20. But Wainwright, national DAV commander, said he did not expect the President would be able to attend.

Green Springs Hero Buried

Ohio Pays Homage To Rodger Young

CLYDE—(AP)—Private Rodger Young, who traveled half around the world and died to make the first team, rested today in a hero's grave.

The infantry's own hero reached his final rest yesterday in an elaborate military service that stretched from his home town of Green Springs, six miles away, to McPherson cemetery in Clyde.

Rodger Young, who won the Congressional Medal of Honor in steaming New Georgia in the Solomons, never could quite make the first team in basketball in high school. He tried, too.

But, Rodger was too short—a miniature five feet, six inches—in a game tailored for tall men.

Then, one day a basketball struck his head and impaired his hearing. He gave up school for that reason in his junior year. A few years later with the rest of Company B, 148th Infantry, 37th Division, Rodger was in the South Pacific—a foot soldier.

He rose to sergeant in the rough, tough infantry. But, air raids and shelling lessened his hearing. So, Rodger voluntarily gave up his stripes. He was afraid his hearing might endanger his buddies in jungle fighting.

It looked like Rodger Young, the shy Ohioan with an ingrown sense of duty, might never make the first team.

But, he did.

About 3 p. m. July 31, 1943, Rodger and several hundred buddies were dug in on a hill in New Georgia. They were pinned down like a pocket flap by Japanese machine guns. One key pillbox particularly held the secret of life and death

One man a minute died from machine gun bullets. Withdrawal with certain heavy casualties were ordered.

Lt. Walter Rigby of Green Springs, a restaurant owner and then a technical sergeant in charge of Young's platoon, tells it this way.

"That day in New Georgia, I ordered everybody in the platoon to withdraw.

"Some say Rodger, who couldn't hear very well, didn't even hear me and that's why he went forward.

"I know better. He looked around at me. He shook his head and pointed to that pillbox. He was the only one that saw it. He started forward.

"He knew what he was doing all right."

Rodger Young, wounded three times, wiped out that pillbox before he died.

His feat inspired what Lt. Col. Joel M. Wareing, chaplain of the 148th Infantry, calls one of the two best songs to come out of World War II—"The Ballad of Rodger Young."

Colonel Wareing spoke the simple eulogy for the Green Springs hero at the red brick Methodist church in his home town.

"Greater love hath no man than that he lay down his life for his friends," said Chaplain Wareing.

They'll Dance the Polka

Central Powers Vets Picnic Sunday

By NITA BRANSON

Probably few Mansfielders realize it, but for 16 years there has been a veterans organization in the city—veterans, that is, of the Central Powers who opposed the Allied forces in World War I.

The organization of Central Powers World War I Vetetrans was formed back in 1931 through efforts of the American Legion for local residents who had lived in or fought with the Central Powers. Since that time every member who was not already an American citizen has successfully taken out citizenship papers.

There were 97 charter members. Of these, 47 remain active along with 57 social members.

Tomorrow the group will stage its annual picnic at GBU park.

The affair will be open to the public. It starts at noon with a dinner and will continue until 8 p. m. Skulski's Polka Toners will play for dancing and there will be a number of contests.

Officers of the Central Powers vets are Mike Raeck, 345 Second avenue, Henry Andree, 351 Ohio street, and John Graf, 392 Third avenue.

Juvenile Home Gets Bar Backing

Attorneys Will See Commissioners

A Richland County Bar association committee Monday will meet with the County commissioners to urge them to provide a juvenile detention home for the county.

Attorney George W. Biddle, chairman of the Bar association's public buildings committee, said a meeting had been arranged for 4 p. m.

He said committee members would urge the commissioners to provide a home by leasing one or by some other means. The group will offer its aid concerning legal phases.

Biddle said that at the recent meeting of his committee members discussed the problem and that a formal report will be made later. At the present time, the committee "recognizes the need for a detention home," he said, and wants to find out from the commissioners if they have anything in mind.

The county has been without a detention home since Jan. 1, making it necessary to hold juvenile delinquents in the county and city jails, despite state laws which forbid the practice.

Serving on the committee with Biddle are Attorneys C. H. Huston and Glenn W. Marriott, and Probate-Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer.

5% Suspect Taken Ill

WASHINGTON — (UP) — A key figure in the Senate's inquiry into Washington's "five per centers" became ill soon after Senate investigators began questioning him, it was disclosed today. He has been under a doctor's care ever since

He is James V. Hunt, a former lieutenant colonel whose alleged activities as an influence salesman touched off the present investigation by the Senate's super - investigating subcommittee. His namestudded diary is the core of the subcommittee's inquiry.

According to reports, Hunt has been ill off and on since the investigation began, and it is not known if he will be well enough to testify when the subcommittee begins public hearings in about 10 days.

His wife told newsmen who tried to contact him at his home that Hunt is under a doctor's care and too ill to talk on the telephone.

Meanwhile, the Senate subcommittee urged government agencies which possess photostatic copies of Hunt's diary to guard against any further leak of its contents

Ohio Communist Denies Charges

NEW YORK — (AP) — An ex-coal miner and communist party official denied at the Red conspiracy trial yesterday that a party school he attended taught force and violence.

Anthony Krchmarek, the ninth defense witness and party chairman in Cuyahoga county, Ohio, made the statement in disputing previous testimony of a government witness.

William Cummings, of Toledo, an FBI undercover worker in the communist ranks, had testified that instructors at a party school in Chicago, in 1945, urged the use of force to overthrow capitalism.

Seek To Break Deadlock

WASHINGTON —(INS) — The administration is making behind-the-scenes moves today aimed at breaking the deadlock with Capitol Hill over President Truman's purported plan to share atomic secrets with Britain and Canada.

Sen. McMahon, chairman of the Congressional Atomic committee, disclosed that "deliberations" are going on both at the capitol and in administration circles.

The Connecticut Democrat said:

"Various facets of the proposal are being deliberated upon."

McMahon was asked in an interview whether he meant that the talks were going on among Pennsylvania avenue officials as well as among individual committee members.

He replied:

"Yes, it's a problem that exists and it requires considerable deliberation."

McMahon declined to elaborate on his statement. But his comment carried a hint that the administration is putting out feelers aimed at soothing opponents of the controversial plan.

NO CONNECTION

Another committee member said he is satisfied that the deadlock did not figure in the one-week delay in sending the administration's arms-for-Europe program to Congress. He declared:

"I don't think the (atomic) proposal has anything to do with the arms program."

He declined to say whether he thought it might deal exclusively with industrial applications of atomic energy—a field with which Britain supposedly has been primarily concerned.

Disclosure to other countries of industrial atomic information is expressly prohibited by the McMahon act except by a treaty ratified by the Senate or an executive agreement approved by both houses.

Jungle Foes Wage Battle

Gorilla, Panther In Bloody Clash

SPOKANE, Wash. — (AP) — A black panther and a 300-pound gorilla locked in a bloody two-hour fight last night after the cat slipped under the gate of an adjoining cage at a traveling wild animal show.

The gorilla finally was shot and killed after attendants made vain attempts to get the animals apart.

Ruby Smith, trainer and part owner of the show, fired three bullets from a .32 calibre pistol into the body of the gorilla.

A crowd estimated at 400 persons was cleared away before the shots were fired

The panther was badly cut about the head and shoulders.

After the battle, the panther was fed meat and attendants pulled the carcass of the gorilla out of the cage. Rags soaked with chloroform were pushed into the cage to "calm down" the raging cat.

The panther, gorilla and a 600-pound lion were being exhibited on a giant cage separated by gates that opened from the bottom.

Al Meyers, manager of the show, said one gate apparently was left unlocked after the cage was cleaned yesterday and was partly pried open by the gorilla. Then the panther slipped underneath and leaped into the gorilla's cage while the huge lion roared and tried to get into the fight.

The panther chewed away at the gorilla's arms as the latter attempted to protect himself with his massive paws.

Meyers said one arm of the gorilla was almost torn off in the fight.

Wants Needs Studied

Seeks Complete Defense Plan

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Senators Taft (R.-Ohio) and Smith (R.-N. J.) called on the administration today to delay its foreign arms program until the new North Atlantic council drafts common defense plans.

Smith, who voted for the security treaty when the Senate ratified it Thursday, told a reporter he doesn't believe there should be "piece-meal action" on rearming western European signers of the pact.

"I hope the administration will delay submitting any arms program until the defense committee, to be set up by the council under article 9 of the treaty, can canvass the needs and agree upon an over-all defense plan," Smith told a reporter.

Taft, who voted against the treaty, said in a separate interview he agrees there should be a study of the needs of the European countries before Congress is asked to act.

Meanwhile, diplomatic authorities said mid-September is the earliest date the council can meet to draft common defense plans, because of time needed for advance preparations.

TRUMAN DELAYS

President Truman originally had planned to send his $1,450,000,000 foreign military aid plans to Congress yesterday, but their delivery to capitol hill was postponed until Monday. The reason for this was reportedly a desire to avoid strengthening the hand of senators seeking to cut foreign economic aid funds in the midst of senate debate on that program.

Besides a message outlining his plans for sending arms to western Europe, Mr. Truman will send along a bill authorizing him to conduct the arms plan. It was reported that the bill will specifically state that the provision of the Atomic Energy act, which forbids this government to send atomic explosives abroad, will not be changed by the arms legislation.

Such a legislative provision in the foreign arms legislation would tend to re-assure those in Congress having recently voiced fears that Mr. Truman may want to give A-bombs to Britain.

At Los Angeles last night, a top U. S. atomic official said that Canada now has the world's most advanced atomic "reactor," a device for the controlled release of atomic energy.

The statement was made by Dr. Lawrence R. Hefstad, director of reactor development for the Atomic Energy commission, in an address to the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences.

Senator Taft, in urging a study of the armament needs of European members of the Atlantic alliance before sending them arms, said:

"I am in favor of giving arms to Greece and Turkey, and I might even vote to turn over some surplus equipment to some of the treaty signers, but I'm certainly opposed to any all-out program that will start a world arms race."

Berkey Red Cross Head

Frank Berkey, personnel director at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, is the new chairman of the Richland county chapter of the Red Cross, it was announced today by organization officials.

C. N. Sutton, executive vice president of the Richland Trust company, was named as vice chairman; L. L. Mishey supervisor of elementary schools here, secretary and Dean Eckert, of the Farmers Bank, as treasurer. Both Mishey and Eckert were re-elected.

A meeting of the board has been set up for some time in September. At that time committee chairmen will be named for the ensuing year.

Woman Changes Her Hair's Color Ten Times Daily For Rinse Firm

NEW YORK — Mrs. Mamie Hohnecker is a real odd job lady.

She earns a living turning her hair different colors—as many as eight to ten times a day. So far as she knows she is unique in her field.

This chameleon-like existence is her own idea. She thought up the job of color rinse tester herself.

Five years ago she went to work as a technician in the Nesle-Lemur laboratory at Meriden, Conn., which manufactures hair rinses. She was assigned to help mix colors.

Mrs. Hohnecker is something of a perfectionist. After a time she went to her boss and asked:

"How can we be absolutely sure we are getting the right shade in each color when we're just mixing chemicals? Why not test each vat of color rinse on real hair? Then we can be certain."

It was pointed out to her that if different models were used the varying texture of their hair would make it difficult for the laboratory experts to maintain exact color standards.

"Then just use one girl," suggested Mrs. Hohnecker.

"Who?"

"Well, I'll volunteer." she said hesitantly, hardly relaizing what this would let her in for.

Since then she has tested some 5,000 vats of color. In each case she applies the rinse to her hair, submits the result to the critical gaze of a chemist, shampoos out that color—and goes on to the next. When a color is imperfect the vat goes down the drain—300 gallons of it.

Getting the color perfect is important as an estimated 85 per cent of American women use a color rinse regularly or occasionally. There are about ten standard colors in the trade.

"Practically no woman is completely satisfied with the color of her hair," said Mrs. Hohnecker. "But her hair isn't actually all one color shade. It's a blend.

"Under a strong miscroscope you can see ten different shades of color in the average woman's hair. It is always darker at the nape of the neck, for example, then it is around the face line. By the right choice of a color rinse a woman can highlight the shade she prefers."

Mrs. Hohnecker, a slender, expressive mother of two young children, has prematurely graying hair herself.

"I began as a towhead," she said cheerfully, "But now I guess I'm a salt and pepper brunette—and more salt than pepper."

Her work isn't without its social hazards She has a habit of leaving on overnight the last color rinse tested during the day. But one afternoon something went wrong and she emerged from the hair dryer to fine her tresses a flaming green.

"There wasn't time to do anything," she said. "I had to leave immediately for a dinner engagement. So I marched out, hoping it wouldn't be too noticeable."

Shortly afterward, when she was at dinner, a man at the next table kept staring at her green hair. Then he called a policeman who came over and tactfully asked her if anything was wrong.

"No, I'm just a guinea pig," said Mrs. Hohnecker. It took a little talking by her companions then to assure the policeman she wasn't a fugitive from a psychopathic ward.

Mrs. Hohnecker said her job as a color rinse tester has one fine compensation.

"It doesn't give you ulcers." she laughed.

Defers Bingo Conviction Case Ruling

Decision Delayed By Ashland Judge

ASHLAND — Judge H. E. Culbertson, of Ashland county common pleas court, has deferred his decision on the protest against the police court conviction of Earl Gribben and Glenn W. Galloway, found guilty of publicizing a lottery in a recent police court bingo case.

Attorneys for the defendants spent 90 minutes presenting their arguments before Judge Mason on the now celebrated bingo trials held here in the spring.

Attorney J. L.Mason termed the affidavit against the two men as "shotgun" in form.

The defense in attempting to appeal the suspended $500 fines assessed against the defendants who were charged with writing, printing or publishing an account of a lottery or scheme of chance.

Both men are officers of the local 40 et 8 club in whose clubrooms the alleged bingo operations took place at the time local police staged a raid on the rooms.

The two were listed on published postcards as officers of the 40 et 8, the cards announcing a series of social parties at the club rooms.

'Invasion Veterans'

164th Helps Repel 'Aggressor Nation'

When the 300 men of the 164th Air National Guard Squadron come back to their Mansfield base at Municipal airport today from Dover Air Base, Maryland, they will be veterans of an "Invasion of America."

The 164th, with the 2,300 men and officers of the Ohio Air National Guard, has just completed a four-day war against an imaginary aggressor. The theoretical war was set up by the Ninth Air Force headquarters at Langley Field, Va.

No actual decision on the mythical invasion of the United States by "Aggressor Nation" was made, but the Ohio Air Guard gained a clear edge in its mission of attack, after a tough battle.

According to a communique "Aggressor Nation" instituted an invasion of Iceland and Newfoundland, consolidated its catures and performed an invasion of the United States near Boston, Mass., and Bangor, Me., a month ago.

As the Ninth Air Force set it up, the enemy established lines that ran along the Canadian border from the Atlantic sea coast to Cleveland, from Cleveland to Parkersburg, W. Va., and from Hagerstown, Md., north and east to Philadelphia to the Atlantic.

The 164th as part of the 55th Fighter Wing under Brig. Gen. E. H. Zistel, was given the job of making air sorties against an imaginary enemy. The pilots flew sorties during both the day and night.

The fight was carried on under real war atmosphere with regular weather and intelligence briefing. The ground crews worked under the strain of a heavy operations schedule making inspections and repairs on planes from the time they landed until they were ready to take off again.

The Mansfield squadron also participated in an attack on Toledo in which they supported Airborne troops which flocked out of the skies to capture the airfield there a week ago.

But it was not all war for the 164th. During the first week at Dover they were examined on a variety of subjects: sustained operations, interception technique, formation flying, instrument flying, night flying, briefing, oxygen equipment, radio procedure and fire-power effectiveness.

There were classes in air to ground and air to air gunnery for the fighter pilots. Pilots practiced landings and take offs in formation along with every phase of operation for a fighter squadron.

Now that they have returned many of the airmen will be in for promotions. But two of the guardsmen were expecting much more than promotions while they were away. The squadron made provision to fly prospective fathers back to Mansfield when the important event occured. Those alerted were Maj. Donald McGee and Capt. John F. Miefert. But the babies waited and up to their their return had not yet arrived.

GOOD SWAP —

Although most goods are purchased with money these days, the old barter system or process of "swapping" is still a pretty good way to get what you want. Olan LaRue, superintendent of Madison township schools, proved that the other day when he traded a set of encyclopedias for a small trailer for his car. LaRue needed a trailer to haul tools to northern Michigan where he is planning to build a cabin this summer. He met a man who had such a trailer and in the course of conversation discovered the man wanted a set of reference books. Since LaRue had a set of books the trade was made, and both got what they wanted without any exchange of money.

Barden Measure Attacked

Would Ban Aid To Catholics

WASHINGTON — (UP) — House Democratic leaders hoped today to work out a compromise that would permit passage of the $300,000,000 aid-to-education bill, despite the religious controversy raging about it.

The compromise, proposed by House Democratic leader John W. McCormack. Mass., and Rep. Percy Priest, D., Tenn., would call for House passage of a Senate bill setting aside $35,000,000 a year in federal grants to the states to improve the health of all school children.

Sponsors of the measure, which would apply to children in public, private and parochial schools, hope its passage would answer some of the objections of Catholic congressmen to the general aid-to-education bill sponsored by Rep. Graham A. Barden, D., N. C.

The Barden bill has aroused bitter protests from Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York and other Catholic leaders. Unlike the Senate-approved aid-to-education measure, the Barden bill would specifically limit benefits of the legislation to the public schools.

Under the bill, federal funds could not be used for Catholic or any other private schools. Children attending private institutions, however, would be counted in termining how much each state should receive in federal grants.

SPELLMAN PROTESTS

The Catholic protest against the measure reached its high point in New York yesterday when Cardinal Spellman charged Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt with "anti-Catholicism" for coming out for the principles of the Barden bill.

"Whatever you may say in the future," he told Mrs. Roosevelt, "Your record of anti-Cathilicism stands for all to see — a record which you yourself wrote on the pages of history which cannot be recalled — documents of discrimination unworthy of an American mother."

In her newspaper column, Mrs. Roosevelt has said that it would be a violation of the traditional American separation of church and state to allow federal funds to go to Catholic schools. She has denied that religious prejudice had anything to do with the issue.

Informed of Spellman's attack on Mrs. Roosevelt, Bardon said that her "reputation for tolerance needs no defense at my hands or the hands of anyone else."

Dr. Taylor To Conduct Fourth Outdoor Vesper Rites Sunday

Dr. W. M. Taylor, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church will conduct the union vesper service at South park tomorrow evening. The service will begin at 7 p. m., a half hour earlier than previous services.

"How Can We Compel Them?" is the subject Dr. Taylor has chosen for his sermon.

Tomorrow evening's service will mark almost the half-way mark in this summer's series of outdoor program, sponsored by the Mansfield Ministerial association.

Last week rainy weather moved the service indoors in the Central Methodist church. Despite bad weather, nearly 200 Mansfielders attended the service conducted by Rev. A. J. Payne, pastor of the Shiloh Baptist church.

County Must Slash 1950 Wheat Acreage to Gain Supports

3,000-Acre Allotment Cut Looms

First Curbs In Past Six Years

The Richland County wheat acreage allotment for 1950 will call for a cut of approximately 3,000 acres from the acreage devoted to wheat this year, if farmers in the county want federal price support on their crops next year.

An allotment of 29,812 acres for wheat in Richland County, was announced today by Dale Williams, director of the state production market administration in Columbus. Guy L. Taylor, chairman of the Richland County Agriculture Adjustment administration, estimated wheat acreage in the county this year at almost 33,000 acres.

Other county wheat acreage allotments for 1950 call for 25,471 acres in Ashland County, 25,184 in Crawford County, 23,902 in Holmes County and 21,642 in Morrow County.

A state wheat acreage allotment of 2,001,444 acres for 1950 —an estimated 351,556 cutback from this year's total—was announced.

The first acreage curbs to be set in six years, the Ohio program is aimed at putting a seven million bushel hole in the 1949 bumper crop of 58,825,000 bushels.

Ohio's allotments fall below the average national reduction of 17 per cent. The state is expected to cut its 1950 planting about 10-½ per cent.

However, the state plan falls in line with the pattern set up by the U. S. department which expects price support program participants, as well as other planters, to stay within the limits of a 1950 national allotment of 65 million, 900 thousand acres.

Although plans for a market quota referendum were abandoned by the agriculture department, Secretary B nan said the optional curbs w re-vent a giant wheat surp... and severe price cuts next year. He also said it would reduce the burden upon the price support program next year.

Pointing out that the allotment program was abandoned in 1943 because of the war, Williams said the new program as determined by ten-year production records of farmers participating in the program. He said a census was made of the state's farmers and, where the farmer refused to give the information, estimates were made by county committeemen.

Last-minute changes in the figures were made by the department when July estimates of the 1949 wheat harvest fell below predictions made a month previously. A slight deterioration of the 1949 crop provided for small increases in 1950 allotments.

Although support prices this year ran higher than market prices, storage problems reportedly caused many Ohio farmers to bypass government aid and escape loss of their crop.

Considers 100 Ohio Measures

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Gov. Frank J. Lausche continued to study yesterday about 100 of the 298 bills passed by the 98th General assembly.

Among the other measures signed yesterday were those which would:

Revise and simplify the state poor relief law;

Allow payment of medical and hospital bills of blind pensioners;

Grant sick leave to school teachers, and;

Broaden the powers of the state welfare director in administering his department.

Grim Look At Future By Orwell

New Book Views Totalitarians

NINETEEN EIGHTY FOUR, by George Orwell, is one of the new books for adult readers which will be available at the Mansfield Public Library Monday. This realistic novel of the future is a warning to the reader of what could happen.

In 1984, 35 years from now, the world is divided into three great warring powers, all totalitarian. Winston Smith, through whose eyes readers see the events of the future, is an ordinary man caught in the machinery of a nightmare state which watches his every move and dictates almost his every thought.

Because he still has a trace of individuality Smith tries to revolt, but the state is efficient and he fails. The story of his struggles and the world in which he lives is realistic enough to make the reader feel it could happen here.

NARROW ESCAPE—The engine and cab of a truck hang precariously over the Des Moines river at Polk City, Ia., after the bridge bed and some vertical supports buckled under its weight. Fatality Boosts Ashland Toll

ASHLAND — Detroit police have notified authorities of the death there of Mrs. Ida Mae Anderson, 73, Highland Park, Mich., who sustained injuries in an auto collision in north Ashland county, July 13.

The injured woman was removed from Samaritan hospital to a Michigan hospital two days after the accident. She sustained possible knee and chest injuries and possible spine fracture. Her car, in which she was riding alone, collided with a semi-truck driven by Morris E. Jenkins, Chicago, Ill., at the intersection of Routes 250 and 224.

The death of Mrs. Anderson marks the ninth traffic fatality for Ashland county during 1949.

'Feud' Hits Arab League

BEIRUT, Lebanon — (AP) — Neutral observers say that the Arab league is dying on its feet and has ceased to be an important factor in the Middle East.

Personal feuding among leaders of member states, they say has blocked attainment of the goal of cooperation set up when the league was organized in Cairo in March, 1945.

The seven founding Arab states agreed in Cairo to work for "real collaboration" and to "strengthen the ties" between one another.

Well informed Arabs privately admit the Arab states are further from that goal today than they were at the time of the leagues founding; that the bickerings which hamstrung Arab fighting efforts in the war against Israel are just as evident in the war's aftermath.

The Arab world today is split into two blocs — one led by Egypt and including Saudi Arabia, Syria and Lebanon; the other composed of Trans-Jordan and Iraq, also ruled by the Hashemite family.

The first bloc is strongly opposed to plans by Trans-Jordan and Iraq for a regional Arab unity.

Iraq favors a Fertile Crescent scheme, which would unite Iraq, the present Syria and Lebanon.

Strip-Teasing Longshoreman Turns Cruise Into Nightmare

NEW YORK —(INS)— A strip-teasing longshoreman Thursday night subjected a staid Staten Island ferry-boat to a mad cruise in which he and two other passengers were arrested and 15,000 perspiring commuters delayed 40 minutes.

The zany doings began when Harry Marshall, 26, of New W. Brighton, S. I., dove into the Narrows, fully clothed, off the Staten Island-bound "Maid of New York."

A lifeboat crew pursued the laughing long - shoreman and hauled him aboard. As the boat approached the ferry, Marshall waved at the crowd and began removing his clothes.

Just as his undershorts came off, he plunged overboard again.

Back on the "Maid," Patrolman Thomas Brown, who had started to try to drag Marshall aboard, was jumped and beaten by two of the strip - teaser's chums.

When the longshoreman was finally recovered, Patrolman Brown was stretched out cold and his two assailants, Charles Heidler and Charles Shanley, both of Staten Island, were being held by crew members.

A police car hustled the two off to jail. Marshall, suffering no ill effects from his double-dip joined them—in the cooler.

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Two Arkansas Democrats have accused Rep. Alvin F. Weichel, R., O., of violating congressional franking privileges by circulating reprints of a magazine article about them.

They said the franking privilege was violated in that the reprints were not from the congressional record or from any other official publication of the House.

The reprints were made from the May 23, 1949, issue of Newsweek. The magazine article dealt with the votes cast by four Arkansas Democrats during House consideration of legislation to repeal the Taft-Hartley law.

CIO President Sees Upturn In Business

WASHINGTON — (INS) — CIO President Philip Murray today anticipates a business upturn this fall despite record unemployment compensation payments of $154,696,000 in June. Murray asserted that he is "definitely counting on an upturn in business this fall."

He'd Die For Lover

NEW YORK —(INS)— Raymond M. Fernandez, accused "lonely hearts" killer, testified yesterday he would be willing to go to the electric chair to save the life of his 29-year-old sweetheart and co-defendant, Martha Beck.

Only Thursday the swarthy, 34-year-old Fernandez put the entire blame on 200-pound Martha for the hammer-and-scarf murder of Mrs. Janet Fay, a 66-year-old Albany, N. Y. widow, in a rooming house at Valley Stream, L. I., last Jan.

The balding, "mail-order Casanova," made his offer to die for Martha just before his direct examination was concluded by Defense attorney Edward Rosenberg.

Q - (By Rosenberg) - Are you willing to go to the electric chair to save Martha Beck's life?

A - I volunteered for that.

Q - Do you love the defendant Beck today?

A - (with emphasis) — I certainly do.

"That's all," said Rosenberg, and Fernandez was immediately taken over on cross examination.

More Humane, Less Humid!

Despite a forcast of "fair and warmer," the weatherman today promised Mansfielders relief from recent oppressive heat when he said humidity would be considerably less today and tomorrow than it has been the past few days.

He added the mercury probably will climb to the mid-80's over most of the state today and probably into the 90's in some spots tomorrow. Mansfield temperature was only 73 at 10:30 a. m. today after climbing to a high of 81 at 5 p. m. yesterday. Low for today was 62 at 4:30 a. m.

The weatherman said Monday also will be "rather warm" with some showers likely in the afternoon or evening. A "trace" of rain fell in Mansfield yesterday.

Voting Change Drive Starts

Ballots now list candidates for all offices under their party emblem. A single "x" at the top of a column is a vote for all those named underneath.

Last November Democrats in Ohio won all but one statehouse office and gained majorities in both houses of the legislature for the first time in years.

A similar attempt at a ballot change failed in Ohio in 1936. The bill was introduced in the 98th Ohio General Assembly, but it died in committee.

Circulators of petitions have until Aug. 10 to file the signed petitions with the secretary of state. Election boards determine the validity of the signatures. If they fall short of the total required, an additional 10 days is allowed to get more signers.

Publisher Arrested

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — Jimmy Tarantino, Hollywood publisher, and two other persons were arrested in connection with the ambush shooting of gangster Mickey Cohen and three others.

Police said they were holding Tarantino 38, Joe Tenner, 49, and Hy Porter, 28, on "suspicion of complicity in the Cohen shooting."

Three men were arrested in a nightclub at 551 Pacific street, San Francisco's famed Barbary coast.

Captain of Inspectors James English said the arrests "orginated here." He said he notified the sheriff of Los Angeles county who requested that all three men be held for questioning.

English said authorities had allegedly overheard Tarantino threaten to "take care of Mickey Cohen" during an argument in a local hotel bar on July 2.

The incident occured following an altercation between two of Cohen's henchmen, Dave Ogul and Ely Lubin, which Tarantino broke up. Cohen's name was mentioned during the squabble.

Tarantinl shouted, "Don't worry, I'll take care of Mickey Cohen."

The Hollywood publisher and editor of "Nightlife" described the charges against him as the "most ridiculous I have ever heard."

Keeps Silent After Rebuke

NEW YORK — (INS) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt remained silent today on Francis Cardinal Spellman's accusation that she is waging an "anti-Catholic campaign," which the Roman Catholic dignitary termed "unworthy of an American mother."

In what was understood to be an unprecedented rebuke, Cardinal Spellman charged Mrs. Roosevelt with acting from either "misinformation, ignorance or prejudice" in articles she had written in support of the controversial Barden aid-to-education bill.

The widow of the late President could not be reached yesterday for comment. But her secretary, Miss Malvina Thompson said that Mrs. Roosevelt "has no comment now, and I doubt that there will be any."

Driving over the bridge at 11 p. m., he detected a peculiar odor and stopped his car in the center of the span to investigate. Finding nothing, he had just driven off the bridge when the explosion occurred.

County Must Slash 1950 Wheat Acreage to Gain Supports

3,000-Acre Allotment Cut Looms

First Curbs In Past Six Years

The Richland County wheat acreage allotment for 1950 will call for a cut of approximately 3,000 acres from the acreage devoted to wheat this year, if farmers in the county want federal price support on their crops next year.

An allotment of 29,812 acres for wheat in Richland County, was announced today by Dale Williams, director of the state production market administration in Columbus. Guy L. Taylor, chairman of the Richland County Agriculture Adjustment administration, estimated wheat acreage in the county this year at almost 33,000 acres.

Other county wheat acreage allotments for 1950 call for 25,471 acres in Ashland County, 25,184 in Crawford County, 23,902 in Holmes County and 21,642 in Morrow County.

A state wheat acreage allotment of 2,001,444 acres for 1950—an estimated 351,556 cutback from this year's total—was announced.

The first acreage curbs to be set in six years, the Ohio program is aimed at putting a seven million bushel hole in the 1949 bumper crop of 58,825,000 bushels.

Ohio's allotments fall below the average national reduction of 17 per cent. The state is expected to cut its 1950 planting about 10-½ per cent.

However, the state plan falls in line with the pattern set up by the U. S. department which expects price support program participants, as well as other planters, to stay within the limits of a 1950 national allotment of 65 million, 900 thousand acres.

Although plans for a market quota referendum were abandoned by the agriculture department, Secretary B nan said the optional curbs w re vent a giant wheat surp.. and severe price cuts next year. He also said it would reduce the burden upon the price support program next year.

Pointing out that the allotment program was abandoned in 1943 because of the war, Williams said the new program as determined by ten-year production records of farmers participating in the program. He said a census was made of the state's farmers and, where the farmer refused to give the information, estimates were made by county committeemen.

Last-minute changes in the figures were made by the department when July estimates of the 1949 wheat harvest fell below predictions made a month previously. A slight deterioration of the 1949 crop provided for small increases in 1950 allotments.

Although support prices this year ran higher than market prices, storage problems reportedly caused many Ohio farmers to bypass government aid and escape loss of their crop.

Grim Look At Future By Orwell

New Book Views Totalitarians

NINETEEN EIGHTY FOUR, by George Orwell, is one of the new books for adult readers which will be available at the Mansfield Public Library Monday. This realistic novel of the future is a warning to the reader of what could happen.

In 1984, 35 years from now, the world is divided into three great warring powers, all totalitarian. Winston Smith, through whose eyes readers see the events of the future, is an ordinary man caught in the machinery of a nightmare state which watches his every move and dictates almost his every thought.

Because he still has a trace of individuality Smith tries to revolt, but the state is efficient and he fails. The story of his struggles and the world in which he lives is realistic enough to make the reader feel it could happen here.

NARROW ESCAPE—The engine and cab of a truck hang precariously over the Des Moines river at Polk City, Ia., after the bridge bed and some vertical supports buckled under its weight. Highway patrolmen said the truck needed only another inch of projection over the water to make it plunge 20 feet into the river. The driver, Lawrence Comer, Granger, Ia., was not injured.

Fatality Boosts Ashland Toll

ASHLAND — Detroit police have notified authorities of the death there of Mrs. Ida Mae Anderson, 73, Highland Park, Mich., who sustained injuries in an auto collision in north Ashland county, July 13.

The injured woman was removed from Samaritan hospital to a Michigan hospital two days after the accident. She sustained possible knee and chest injuries and possible spine fracture. Her car, in which she was riding alone, collided with a semi-truck driven by Morris E. Jenkins, Chicago, Ill., at the intersection of Routes 250 and 224.

The death of Mrs. Anderson marks the ninth traffic fatality for Ashland county during 1949.

'Feud' Hits Arab League

BEIRUT, Lebanon — (AP) — Neutral observers say that the Arab league is dying on its feet and has ceased to be an important factor in the Middle East.

Personal feuding among leaders of member states, they say has blocked attainment of the goal of cooperation set up when the league was organized in Cairo in March, 1945.

The seven founding Arab states agreed in Cairo to work for "real collaboration" and to "strengthen the ties" between one another.

Well informed Arabs privately admit the Arab states are further from that goal today than they were at the time of the leagues founding; that the bickerings which hamstrung Arab fighting efforts in the war against Israel are just as evident in the war's aftermath.

The Arab world today is split into two blocs – one led by Egypt and including Saudi Arabia, Syria and Lebanon; the other composed of Trans-Jordan and Iraq, also ruled by the Hashemite family.

The first bloc is strongly opposed to plans by Trans-Jordan and Iraq for a regional Arab unity.

Iraq favors a Fertile Crescent scheme, which would unite Iraq, the present Syria and Lebanon.

Strip-Teasing Longshoreman Turns Cruise Into Nightmare

NEW YORK —(INS)— A strip-teasing longshoreman Thursday night subjected a staid Staten Island ferry-boat to a mad cruise in which he and two other passengers were arrested and 15,000 perspiring commuters delayed 40 minutes.

The zany doings began when Harry Marshall, 26, of New W. Brighton, S. I., dove into the Narrows, fully clothed, off the Staten Island-bound "Maid of New York."

A lifeboat crew pursued the laughing long - shoreman and hauled him aboard. As the boat approached the ferry, Marshall waved at the crowd and began removing his clothes.

Just as his undershorts came off, he plunged overboard again.

Back on the "Maid," Patrolman Thomas Brown, who had started to try to drag Marshall aboard, was jumped and beaten by two of the strip - teaser's chums.

When the longshoreman was finally recovered, Patrolman Brown was stretched out cold and his two assailants, Charles Heidler and Charles Shanley, both of Staten Island, were being held by crew members.

A police car hustled the two off to jail. Marshall, suffering no ill effects from his double-dip joined them--in the cooler.

CIO President Sees Upturn In Business

WASHINGTON — (INS) — CIO President Philip Murray today anticipates a business upturn this fall despite record unemployment compensation payments of $154,696,000 in June. Murray asserted that he is "definitely counting on an upturn in business this fall."

He'd Die For Lover

NEW YORK —(INS)— Raymond M. Fernandez, accused "lonely hearts" killer, testified yesterday he would be willing to go to the electric chair to save the life of his 29-year-old sweetheart and co-defendant, Martha Beck.

Only Thursday the swarthy, 34-year-old Fernandez put the entire blame on 200-pound Martha for the hammer-and-scarf murder of Mrs. Janet Fay, a 66-year-old Albany, N. Y. widow, in a rooming house at Valley Stream, L. I., last Jan.

The balding, "mail-order Casanova," made his offer to die for Martha just before his direct examination was concluded by Defense attorney Edward Rosenberg.

Q - (By Rosenberg) - Are you willing to go to the electric chair to save Martha Beck's life?

A - I volunteered for that.

Q - Do you love the defendant Beck today?

A - (with emphasis) — I certainly do.

"That's all," said Rosenberg, and Fernandez was immediately taken over on cross examination.

500 Attend Lawn Fete

More than 500 Mansfielders attended the lawn fete held at Liberty park Friday night, which had been planned to obtain funds for the building of a cabin for boy and girl scouts of the area.

Lawn fete plans were under the direction of the Frank R. Stahl Rover Crew, of which Roy Phelps is leader and Boy Scout Troop No. 4. Proceeds, as yet unannounced, will go toward the building of the cabin for the Boy Scout troop and the five Girl Scout troops of the area.

Seventy - five cakes, donated by the mothers of the Girl Scouts, and gallons of ice cream were consumed between 5 and 11 p. m. The mothers were in charge of the serving of refreshments.

Congressman Draws Blast

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Two Arkansas Democrats have accused Rep. Alvin F. Weichel, R., O., of violating congressional franking privileges by circulating reprints of a magazine article about them.

Reps. Boyd Tackett and Oren Harris told the House yesterday that Weichel mailed the reprints, which were from Newsweek magazine, "all over the country. They said the franking privilege was violated in that the reprints were not from the congressional record or from any other official publication of the House.

The reprints were made from the May 23, 1949, issue of Newsweek. The magazine article dealt with the votes cast by four Arkansas Democrats during House consideration of legislation to repeal the Taft-Hartley law.

Gambling Club Without Phones

PAINESVILLE — (AP) — The telephone wasn't working today at the luxurious gambling spot, the Mounds club, at the presonal request of Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

In the second crackdown by Ohio in a week, telephone linesmen climbed a pole in front of the club and disconnected service yesterday. Only last Saturday state agents raided the Mounds and shut it down on the claim its building failed to meet fire safety regulations.

HONG KONG — (UP)— Communist columns closing in on Changsha have reached within 30 miles of the key city and nationalist headquarters have been moved south, Chinese reports said today.

Mr. Wilson was born Sept. 20, 1884 at Sidney, Ill., coming to Mansfield and vicinity 35 years ago. He worked as a cement finisher for many years.

Publisher Arrested

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — Jimmy Tarantino, Hollywood publisher, and two other persons were arrested in connection with the ambush shooting of gangster Mickey Cohen and three others.

Police said they were holding Tarantino 38, Joe Tenner, 49, and Hy Porter, 28, on "suspicion of complicity in the Cohen shooting."

Three men were arrested in a nightclub at 551 Pacific street, San Francisco's famed Barbary coast.

Captain of Inspectors James English said the arrests "orginated here." He said he notified the sheriff of Los Angeles county who requested that all three men be held for questioning.

English said authorities had allegedly overheard Tarantino threaten to "take care of Mickey Cohen" during an argument in a local hotel bar on July 2.

The incident occured following an altercation between two of Cohen's henchmen, Dave Ogul and Ely Lubin, which Tarantino broke up. Cohen's name was mentioned during the squabble.

Tarantinl shouted, "Don't worry, I'll take care of Mickey Cohen."

The Hollywood publisher and editor of "Nightlife" described the charges against him as the "most ridiculous I have ever heard."

Keeps Silent After Rebuke

NEW YORK — (INS) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt remained silent today on Francis Cardinal Spellman's accusation that she is waging an "anti-Catholic campaign," which the Roman Catholic dignitary termed "unworthy of an American mother."

In what was understood to be an unprecedented rebuke, Cardinal Spellman charged Mrs. Roosevelt with acting from either "misinformation, ignorance or prejudice" in articles she had written in support of the controversial Barden aid-to-education bill.

The widow of the late President could not be reached yesterday for comment. But her secretary, Miss Malvina Thompson said that Mrs. Roosevelt "has no comment now, and I doubt that there will be any."

Explosion Hits Covered Bridge

CIRCLEVILLE — (AP) — An historic covered bridge on State Route 180, a half-mile north of Adelphi, was damaged by dynamite blast last night.

The explosion apparently was deliberately planned. A short piece of fuse was found later. J. Edmiston, a Kinnikinnick farmer, narrowly escaped injury.

Driving over the bridge at 11 p. m., he detected a peculiar odor and stopped his car in the center of the span to investigate. Finding nothing, he had just driven off the bridge when the explosion occurred.

Voting Change Drive Starts

Ballots now list candidates for all offices under their party emblem. A single "x" at the top of a column is a vote for all those named underneath.

Last November Democrats in Ohio won all but one statehouse office and gained majorities in both houses of the legislature for the first time in years.

A similar attempt at a ballot change failed in Ohio in 1936. The bill was introduced in the 98th Ohio General Assembly, but it died in committee.

Circulators of petitions have until Aug. 10 to file the signed petitions with the secretary of state. Election boards determine the validity of the signatures. If they fall short of the total required, an additional 10 days is allowed to get more signers.

Nearby, her sister, Mrs. Laura La Duke, 82, lay unconscious.

Mrs. Pearl Gibson, 57, the dead woman's niece ran from the house last night, screaming that the hired man had attacked the three women during an argument.

Newark Pitcher Hurls No-Hitter Against Marion

NEWARK — (AP) — George Vinson, 22-year-old right hander, hurled a no-hit no-run game for Newark against Marion in an Ohio Indiana league baseball game here tonight.

The no-hitter came in Newark's 3-0 triumph over the Red Sox in the first seven-inning tilt of a double bill. Marion won the second game 4-2.

Vinson got his perfect game due to a slipup by Marion left-fielder Bob Bringham. Bringham hit a double in the fourth inning, but forgot to touch first base. He was called out.

Vinson, 5-foot 11-inch, 180-pound pitcher from Detroit, Mich., playing his third year of professional baseball, struck out 10 Red Sox and walked three in the no-hitter. All of Newark's three runs came in the first inning.

The no-hitter was Vinson's third win against six defeats in the legue this season.

Cleveland Signs Ex-Notre Damer

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Former Notre Dame halfback William Lancaster Smith of Lebanon, Ky., has been signed by the Cleveland Browns, coach Paul Brown announced yesterday.

Smith, 26, will report with 51 other members of the all America football conference champions Monday at the Brown's Bowling Green, O., training camp.

Training Opens

EVANSTON, Ill. — (AP) — Head coach Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma's Sugar Bowl champions began greeting college gridiron heroes of the 1948 season today as training officially opened for the annual all-star football game in Soldier Field Aug. 12.

Legion Team Loses First Of Season

American Veterans Committee retained undisputed possession of first place in the International softball league last night as the American Legion lost its first game of the season.

The Legion nine fell before East Side Nite club, 9-6, while AVC was blasting Lee's Lunch, 13-5. AVC now has a second half record of three wins and no losses against the Legion's 1-1.

Everett, with three singles and a double, led AVC in its 14-hit attack on Lee's pitcher Wright. Small of AVC poled the only homer.

Two home runs were hit by the American Legion as it fell before East Side. Hooks and Fogel contributed four-ply wallops to a 12-hit attack but East Side jumped on the usually reliable Aid Geiger for 13. Wharton had three hits in four trips.

The Amvets edged by Tom's Restaurant, 3-2, in the other game. Trailing 2-1 going into the last half of the seventh, the Amvets scored twice to win.

Sign Two Ends

NEW YORK — (INS) — The New York Giants of the national football league announced today that Bill Swiacki and Bruce Gehrke, former star ends of Columbia university have signed 1949 contracts.

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Writer.)

Shades of 1946. It looks like another Brooklyn - St. Louis photo finish in the National league.

Separated by only 1½ games with 10 full weeks to go, the one-two clubs appear ready for another long scramble to the wire. Boston still is in the race and the Phillies and New York Giants have an outside chance, but it figures to be either the Dodgers or Cards at this stage.

George (Red) Munger clipped a full game off the Brooks' slim lead last night with a 3-1 victory in the opener of the year's first "crooshul" series in the National. The Cards could leave town in first place if they could sweep the set ending Monday afternoon.

Munger could mean the difference between these two closely matched clubs. His five-hitter that snapped Preacher Roe's seven-game win streak was his third straight over Brooklyn.

Brilliant defensive play by Chuck Diering and Enos Slaughter helped Red ease past the league leaders last night. Slaughter ended the game with a leaping catch of Gil Hodges' drive against the left field wall with one on base.

The Braves moved within six games of the Dodgers by downing Pittsburgh, 5-3, but their victory may have been costly. Vern Bickford was carried off the field with an injured left instep after being struck by Clyde McCullough's line drive in the seventh. As Bickford is the defending champs' top winner with 12, his absence for any extended period would be a vital blow to their chances of repeating.

Robin Roberts saved a win for Russ Meyer by taming Cincinnati with the bases loaded and none out in the eighth inning for a 2-1 Phil triumph.

Hank Sauer's 19th homer with a man on helped Chicago down the New York Giants, 6-5, as Johnny Schmitz survived 11 giant hits to go the route. Sam Webb, who relieved Monte Kennedy in the fifth, dished up the home run ball to Sauer in the seven to suffer his first loss.

Tommy Byrne tamed Detroit with five hits, 8-2, protecting the New York Yankees' 5½ game lead over Cleveland in the American league. Charley Keller homered for the Yanks.

Thurman Tucker, Larry Doby's replacement in the Cleveland outfield, drove in both runs in the Tribe's 10-innings 2-1 squeaker over Washington.

Vern Stephens hit his 24th homer and Ted Williams blasted No. 23 in Boston's 4-2 verdict over the St. Louis Browns. Dom Di Maggio extended his consecutive game hitting streak to 17 with a single.

Chicago routed the Philadelphia A's 12-0, scoring eight runs in the first inning. Connie Mack let Carl Scheib take a beating. Scheib pitched the complete game, giving up 18 hits and eight walks while the A's were blanked by Randy Gumpert.

Bob Regula Hails Return To Form With No-Hit Job

Gorman-Rupp was again today rated as a favorite for the district softball championship, following the news that fireball Bob Regula is back in form.

Bob had shoulder trouble early in the season and had won only three games up until this week. He came out of the slump with a one-hit victory and then hit the heights last night with a no-hitter.

Last night's victim was Ashland Garber Printing which bowed 3-0 before Bob's stellar hurling. He walked only three men and struck out ten.

Garber's never threatened and the closest it got to a run was when Bob walked two men in the seventh inning. No man ever reached third.

Meanwhile his mates collected eight bingles, including a single and triple by Ted Bush. Only Petet Campbell and Bill McCarrick were stopped without hits.

The win was the third straight shutout triumph for Gorman-Rupp.

Youth Activities Take Spotlight In City Church Programs

City-Wide Picnic To Be Staged

Other Outings, Meetings Set

Youth activities will move into the spotlight in Mansfield church programs next week as young people from various city churches plan and participate in religious outings.

The Richland County Christian Youth Council will meet Wednesday evening to make final plans for a city-wide youth picnic to be held the first part of next month.

Initial plans for the picnic were made at a special meeting of the officers of the council held at the home of Patricia Lindbeck, secretary. The officers appointed Robert Perez, vice-president, and Tom Swisher to head a committee to make plans for the outing. Perez and Swisher will choose other members of the committee and present their plans Wednesday night.

Members of the Senior Fellowship of the First Presbyterian church will attend a picnic and service at Middle park Sunday evening. The group will meet at the church at 5:30 p. m. with each member bringing his own lunch. A brief service will follow supper at the park.

Miss RoAnne Farry is in charge of arrangements for the outing.

The Senior Fellowship also plans to spend a day at a cottage on Lake Erie Aug. 20. The day's activities will honor recent high school graduates.

Four young people from the First Christian church will leave tomorrow to attend the Young People's Conference at Bluffton next week.

They include Patsy Smith, Donna Friday, Eldon Lown, and Eldon Remy. Mrs. J. D. Wilcox will serve as dean of girls at the conference.

Plans also are being made to hold a Youth for Christ rally at South Park next Saturday evening.

★

Miss Janet Sangree, religious education director at the First Presbyterian church, will attend the directors' workshop section of the Wooster Leadership Training School July 25 to Aug. 6.

★

At a special business session at the Park Avenue Baptist church last Sunday it was voted, upon recommendation of the board of finance, and house committee, to borrow up to $5,000 to make repairs on the church, including pointing the stone outside, repairing the roof, and redecorating the sanctuary. The work is expected to get underway soon.

★

Rev. S. E. LaFollette, new Mansfield district superintendent of the Methodist church, will be the guest pastor at the First Methodist church tomorrow morning in the absence of Rev. C. W. Stoneburner. His subject will be "This Is the Victory."

★

Israel Confesses Sins

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Psalms 32; 51: 86:5; 130:1-5.

When I kept silence, my bones waxed old through my roaring all the day long. For day and night Thy hand was heavy upon me.

I acknowledged my sin unto Thee, and mine iniquity have I not hid. I said, I will confess my transgressions unto the Lord; and Thou forgavest.

Restore unto me the joy of Thy salvation Then will I teach transgressors Thy ways; and sinners shall be converted unto Thee.

For Thou, Lord, art good, and ready to forgive, and plenteous in mercy unto all them that call upon Thee

MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 86:5.

Joined Church 'By Accident'

Teaches Sunday School 29 Years

When C. M. Hunter, 312 Giessner avenue, and his wife dropped into the Main Street Evangelical United Brethren church to attend services there for the first time in 1917, Hunter did not dream he would not only become a member of the church but one of the church's most faithful Sunday school teachers as well.

Hunter's family always had been Presbyterians, in fact they helped build three Presbyterian churches in the northern part of the county. When Hunter came to Mansfield in March, 1917, he and his wife decided to attend services at a church near their home the first Sunday. That church was the Main Street Evangelical, and they liked members of the congregation and the pastor so well, they have been going there ever since.

Hunter taught a Sunday school class a few times in 1918, became an assistant teacher in 1919 and then a regular teacher that year.

He has taught the same class ever since and is now in his 29t year as a Sunday school teacher at the church. There have been very few Sundays in all those years that Hunter has not appeared before his class. Occasional illness or annual vacations caused his only absences until this year.

This winter he was ill with bronchial pneumonia, but while he was home in bed he was elected once again teacher of his class. However, this year he was given three assistants to aid him in his work.

Evidence of Hunter's popularity as a teacher is the fact his original class of 20 to 30 members has now grown to 90 members with an average attendance of 58. Hunter also has been asked to substitute for teachers at other Mansfield churches at various times.

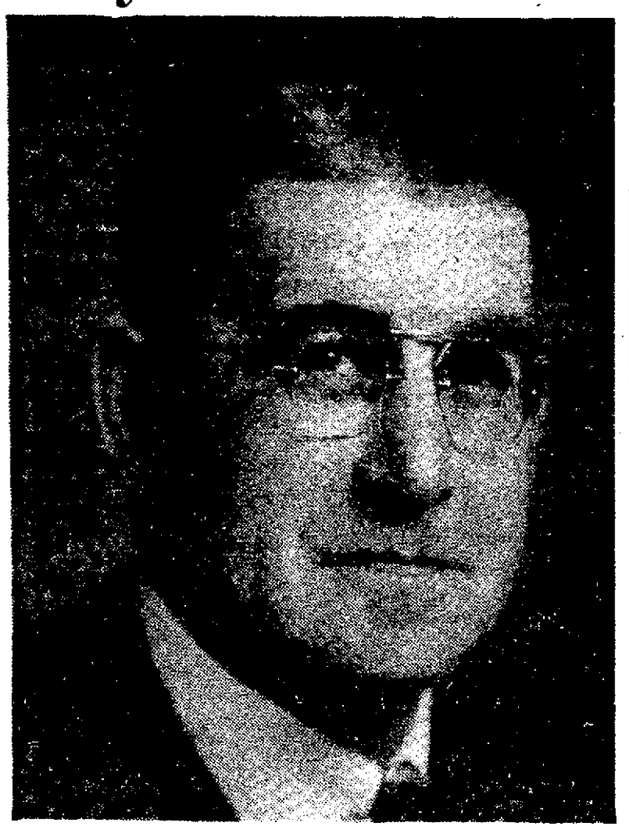
When he started teaching his class was known as the St. Paul's Bible class. In 1943 that class and the Young Men's Bible class merged into what is now the Men's Bible class which Hunter teaches.

"I get a lot of satisfaction out of my Sunday school work and I really enjoy it," Hunter said. He added "I try to live up to what I preach."

A dozen or more members of Hunter's original class still hear his teaching each Sunday.

A lot of things have happened in the 29 years Hunter has been teaching. The tiny basement under the church was enlarged to make a whole basement under the church for Sunday school rooms, and seven pastors, including the present one, Rev. Willard J. Shawk, have been in the pulpit since Hunter first started teaching.

An incident which remains vividly in Hunter's mind is the time the district Bishop of the church dropped in on his class. Hunter told him, "Bishop, you're getting on my nerves."



C. M. HUNTER . . . His class grew from 20 to 90 members.

★ ★ ★

The Bishop replied, "you don't know how I enjoy sitting back and listening to someone else, go right ahead."

Hunter has had an active life outside his church work. He served as mayor of the city in 1938 and 1939, getting a taste of local politics.

Except for his period of service as mayor he has been an employe of the Ohio Brass company since shortly after he came to Mansfield in 1917.

Food Costs 1% Higher

Clothing Takes Slight Drop

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The government reported yesterday that food prices climbed nearly one per cent last month.

The Bureau of Labor statistics issued its monthly report on the cost of living which showed an increase of 0.9 per cent in food prices between mid - May and mid - June.

Fractional increases were reported on rents and fuel, while the prices of house furnishings, clothing and miscellaneous goods went down slightly.

BLS said the overall cost of living for moderate - income city families advanced 0.2 per cent last month.

The consumers price index on June 15 was 169.6 per cent of the 1935-39 average, 1.2 jer cent higher per cent higher than in June, 1946, when OPA controls were removed.

The increase in food prices was expected to add fuel to labor's fight for a fourth round wage increase.

The government's report will be the final calculation on the cost of living before President Truman's special fact finding board reports on the demands of the CIO Steel Workers union for a substantial pay boost.

Church Group Holds Heated Yule Party

KENDALLVILLE, Ind.— (UP) — Church women mounted stepladders and strung Christmas lights on a 10-foot evergreen tree yesterday in preparation for a midsummer Yule party.

"Christmas is so commercialized in December that we thought a July celebration would be a good thing," said Mrs. Charles Longyear, sr., president of the Ayne Center Methodist Women's auxiliary.

A program featuring a pantomime of the birth of Christ and the singing of Christmas carols was held amid holiday decorations in the church social rooms last night.

With temperatures in the 80's, the church women perspired and fanned themselves as they put the finishing touches on the appointments. Santa Clauses and Yule logs were placed at tables where refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Plastics Date Back To Ancient Times Speaker Tells Kiwanians

"Plastic products are not substitutes, but are new products that do a particular job better," Paul Kollar, American Textilite executive, told members of the Kiwanis club at their noon luncheon Thursday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

"People think of plastics as being something new or modern, but in reality plastics date back to ancient times," Kollar said in tracing the history of the use of plastics.

"The Greeks used rosin in the making of plastic materials and in the 18th century the plastic celluloid was used as a replacement for ivory in billiard balls," Kollar said.

He displayed a few of the products of the newly formed American Textilite company, which started operations at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company on May 1. "We are proud that we were able to turn out our first products after only two and a half months."

The annual Rotary - Kiwanis golf and bridge party will be held at Westbrook country club on August 18, it was announced at the luncheon.

Pastors Will Discuss Plans For City Survey

All Mansfield ministers have been invited to attend a meeting Tuesday morning to discuss further plans and details for a National Christian Teaching Mission to be held in the city this fall. The meeting will be held at the Park Avenue Baptist church at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday. The mission provides for a religious survey of the city.

Members of the Mansfield Ministerial association and lay members of Mansfield churches endorsed a movement to participate in the mission at a meeting July 1.

Dr. W. M. Taylor, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church and chairman of the evangelistic committee of the Ministerial association, said nine churches already have indicated their intention to participate in the mission. They include Dr. Taylor's church, First Methodist, First Congregational, St. John's Evangelical and Reformed, First Evangelical United Brethren, Main Street Evangelical United Brethren, First Christian, St. Paul Lutheran and the First Presbyterian.

The teaching mission is a national movement sponsored by the Federal Council of Churches and the International Council of Religious Education.

Churches in cities participating in the mission will unite in making a thorough religious census of the city. With these figures, they will unite in a program to enlist non-church members in some church in the city.

UMW Faces Suit, Probe

Senate To Start Investigation

WASHINGTON — (INS) — John L. Lewis today faced a Senate inquiry into his three-day mine work week and a possible court probe of the Miners' Welfare fund.

A Senate banking subcommittee will look into the United Mine Workers president's recent order to his soft coal diggers east of the Mississippi to work only Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week until further notice.

At the same time, reports circulated that a minor UMW official from Pennsylvania is planning to file a lawsuit demanding an accounting of the union's 100-million-dollar annual welfare fund.

One informed official said the action will be filed in federal court in Washington "within a few days."

The suit reportedly will ask for a detailed audit of the welfare program which is financed by industry contributions of 20 cents per ton of coal mined.

Lewis has never disclosed the fund's collections but revealed recently that it has spent approximately 106 million dollars on pensions, death benefits, hospitalization and medical care.

AIR TOUR—Twin Queens Sophia and Irene Peters, Columbus, were with the 175 aviators who were in Mansfield yesterday when they landed at Municipal airport, the first stop on the All-Ohio Air Tour. The girls were chosen queen at the Sky Club here two months ago. They are members of the 99ers, the national women's flying club which was founded by Amelia Earhart several years ago. On the right Keith Bryan, Cleveland, tour manager for the Cleveland Junior Chamber of Commerce, hands out flight plans to pilots John Beck, John Stroud, Brooks Rogerson, and Arthur Lyall. There were 92 planes on the parking strips at the airport yesterday morning while the airmen were at the Sky Club taking a snack prepared for them by the Mansfield Junior Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Richland Aviation corporation.

Differs With Dewey On Slashing of Aid

Governor Dewey's remarks on the Marshall plan are not, it seems to me, as well considered as they should have been. Dewey is threatening the British people with the loss of Marshall plan money because the Labor government is "resisting the economic unity without which I do not believe Europe can survive."

He believes the Labor party is resisting because of its "pet projects of socialism or nationalism."

Even if we believe, as I for one do, that a planned economy of the British type is almost impossible to integrate with a reasonably free world economy, Dewey's remarks are nonetheless unfortunate.

They would, if they are generally supported over here, make the United States the issue in the coming British election. They amount to telling the British people that unless they turn out the Labor government and put in a Conservative government, they will, if the titular head of the Republican party is followed here, be deprived of Marshall aid money.

I wonder whether Dewey, if he thinks it over, will wish to inject such an issue into the British election. Does he want the electoral campaign to be fought not on the results of the Labor government's policy but on the question of whether the right of the British to choose their own government is for sale to the United States?

Proud and self-respecting nations do not take well to the kind of intervention in their affairs which Dewey advocates. Nothing but mischief can come of threats and of acts over here which would make it appear, which would make it possible to argue, that the Conservatives are the American party and that Labor is the Anti-American party.

And to the communists everywhere Dewey will have furnished gratis support for their propaganda against the Marshall plan. Have they not been saying from the beginning that the Marshall plan would deprive the European nations of their independence?

If responsible Americans are now going to demand that a British government be turned out on the threat of hunger and unemployment, it will not be easy to convince the socialist masses of the European continent that our motives are as disinterested and as constructive as, thus far, thry have undoubtedly been.

Naturally, I do not myself think that Dewey has made up his mind to use the Marshall plan to defeat the Labor government. No doubt he is quite sincere and earnest, and in principle right, when he argues for the unification of Europe, when he says that Socialist planning is nationalistic and an obstacle to unification.

But it is also quite plain from his own speech that he has not examined that problem of unification very closely.

Thus he speaks about making "Western Europe into one large area for the free exchange of goods and services like the United States."

Let Dewey name the countries which belong to "Western Europe." I suppose he would include Western Germany up to the Elbe River. If he will then study this "area," he will soon discover that it in no way resembles the United States. For unlike the United States it does not contain the farmlands to feed itself or the main raw materials for its industries.

The crisis which is mounting in Britain and the sterling area will affect the whole free world, including this country.

Let us not aggravate and embitter it by threats that can only provoke fierce passions on both sides of the Atlantic, without bringing us any nearer to an understanding of the depth and gravity of the problem itself.

Red Cross Revises Home Service Department

Chapter's Program Rewritten

Soldier, Vet Aid Outlined

A revised program of the Home Service department of the Richland county Red Cross, designed to be better understood by the service men and veterans it benefits, was announced today by the department committee chairman, H. E. Shoemaker.

The program has been re-written in accordance with the national organization. Only revisions in the policies has been made in the financial assistance service.

Shoemaker said there are many services of the department, heretofore left unmentioned that should be known by the public.

Most important in the revision of the financial service is the provision that only one of the mandatory service phases still holds. Upon order of the national office, the local Red Cross must furnish "basic maintenance" to a family of an active service man if the family becomes needy prior to the time the family allowance check reaches them.

The former system of providing basic maintenance to the family of a veteran if the veteran had applied for disability compensation from the Veterans Administration and had not received a decision, is no longer mandatory.

In summing up the entire services of the department, Shoemaker said the program includes case work services to servicemen, veterans and their dependents and to the dependents of deceased servicemen and veterans. It has no restrictions, Shoemaker added, as to legal residence, race, religion or citizenship.

Recent re - writing of the program was assisted by Tom Mowry, Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, W. R. Bradford, Mrs. J. N. Strickler, of Mansfield, and by Mrs. Woodburn Armstrong of Shelby, committee members.

"One of the most important parts of our service is the counseling and case work service," Shoemaker said. "Another is the reporting and communications service, which entails assistance to servicemen and their dependents by securing information needed by military authorities, guidance in the matter of direct communications between service men and their families and sending information through Red Cross channels when direct communications will not meet the need."

A third important phase of service given by the department is that of assistance in applying for government benefits, such as family allowances and giving information about government regulations and legislation concerning those benefits.

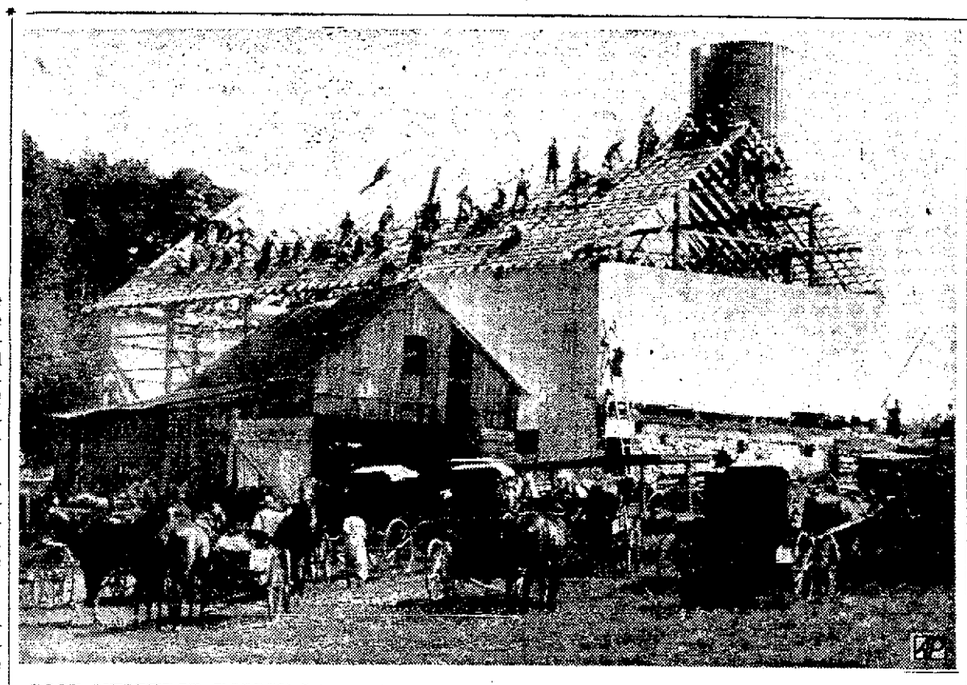
Another phase is referral service, through which those seeking assistance from the Red Cross may be given information about utilizing regulations and appropriate resources.

These above phases are for members of the armed forces and their dependents.

That for veterans and their families is practically the same, except that the benefits may become claims services, including compensation, pension, hospitalization and many other types of claims for the veteran and his dependents.

A third phase of the home service department work has to do with civilians, who benefit from the communications services where they have been unsuccessful in contacting relatives in foreign countries.

Miss Esther Barnett, staff head of the department, has been asked by Edward P. Blonston, manager of the Social Security Administration, to explain the details of the revised plan to members of the administration staff. Miss Barnett will meet with the group next Tuesday morning.



GOOD NEIGHBOR POLICY IN ACTION—Three hundred neighbors and feilow Mennonite church members of tenant farmer Isaac Hoover pitch in to rebuild in one day a barn which burned down three weeks ago at Lancaster, Pa. The amateur carpenters who came to work in their horse-drawn buggies, are shown finishing the roof. The farm which Hoover works for Daniel Nolt is at nearby New Holland.

Pre-Harvest Potato Helps

By DEAN HALLIDAY
(Central Press Association

With potatoes maturing in the home vegetable garden, protection of them is more important than ever if one hopes to harvest a good quality crop.

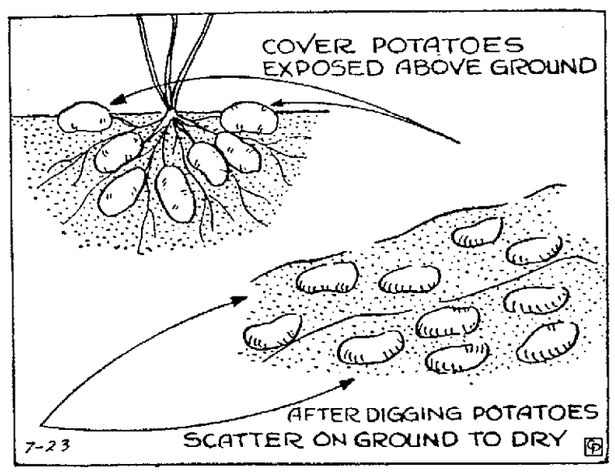
As the potato plants mature, hoe up the soil around them to help hold them upright and to protect the tubers from the sun. If any tubers are found partly exposed above the soil surface, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, cover them with soil at once. Exposure to sun-light turns the tubers green and renders them unfit for eating.

Watch carefully as harvest time approaches for signs of late blight of potatoes. This is probably the most destructive disease of late potatoes. Late blight prematurely kills the plants and greatly reduces the yield of tubers.

Fight late blight with Bordeaux mixture, applied wet or dry. One of the most effective ways to protect potato plants is to apply a mixture of arsenate of lead and Bordeaux mixture, the one a poison and the other a fungicide. Mix the two compounds together and apply with a hand duster.

Choose a dry, sunny day for digging potatoes. Once they have been dug the potatoes should be given an hour or two to dry while left scattered on the ground, as illustrated.

A dry cellar, where the temperature averages 32 to 36 degrees, is ideal for keeping potatoes. They may be kept in bins, flat boxes, barrels or crates, so long as the air is afforded a chance to circulate among them. On warm days the cellar should be aired.



50,000th DP Sets Foot On U. S. Soil, Says He's Happy

BOSTON — (UP) — The 50,000th European refugee to reach the United States under the 1948 Displaced Persons act brought his wife and baby ashore here yesterday to receive a welcome from city, state and federal officials.

Josef Bujak, 28-year-old Polish farm worker enroute to a new home in Russellville, O., smiled happily as he crossed the gangplank from the Army Transport Gen. Stuart Heintzelman which docked with 820 former inmates of German DP camps.

From a flag-draped dockside platform, the freckled Bujak thanked the welcoming dignitaries "with all my heart for giving me the possibility to start here a a new life."

His shipmates, waiting their turn to land, cheered his words, the national anthem and brief speeches by Gov. Paul A. Dever of Massachusetts, Mayor James M. Curley of Boston and Chairman Ugo Carusi of the U. S. Displaced Persons committee.

The slender Bujak told newsmen he was proud to have been selected for the honor of being the 50,000th DP to reach the United States.

He said he was informed of his selection the day before the ship left Bremerhaven, Germany, July 13.

British Tap New Source Of Dollars

LONDON — (AP) — Dollar hungry Britain tapped another "export" market today — the 8,000 U. S. airmen stationed in England.

The British Board of Trade made a deal with air force post exchange officers to sell the boys consumer luxury goods normally marked for export only.

The Americans thus will be able to buy a lot of things denied Britons themselves.

"Of course, the men get just about everything they want and need at the PX now," a U. S. Air Force spokesman said. "But some of them might want to buy some costume jewelry, a bit of clothing sports goods or just a souvenir of Great Britain."

No set amount was specified in the agreement. Purchases will depend on what the airmen ask for.

Plans Global Tour To Study Problems

For the next ten or twelve weeks, I shall be reporting to you from world capitals around the globe. As one of the participants in the 'Round the World Town Meeting of the Air I shall try to tell you what I see and hear in London, Paris, Rome, Ankara, Tel Aviv, Alexandria and Cairo in Egypt, Bierut in Lebanon, Demascus in Syria, Karachi, New Delhi, Manila, Tokyo, Honolulu and San Francisco.

As far as is humanly possible I shall try to avoid the temptation to tell you things which other and more competent correspondents have been cabling back home.

I shall try to concentrate on two or three subjects which are of greater importance to the welfare of the United States and the world than some Americans realize.

One of these is the effect upon the non-white peoples of the world, especially in Asia, Africa and the Pacific, of World War II so far as their belief in "white superiority" is concerned.

When Singapore fell to the Japanese and the emperor's armed forces swept like a plague of locusts over Asia and the Pacific, the Achilles' heel of so-called white military invincibility was destroyed forever. Brown, yellow and black men learned that bullets and bombs penetrate white skins as destructively as they do colored skin.

Asia, Africa and Latin America as well as American Negroes are watching with skeptical and frequently with cynical eyes w at will be done about colonialism and the extension of economic, political and human freedom to the colored world. They are wondering if the Atlantic pact and the ECA mean that a war-shattered Europe is to be rebuilt by the blood, sweat and tears of colonial peoples.

I shall try to report to you the extent of the faith or lack of it which colonial peoples hold so far as the promises of freedom to them are concerned.

And third, I shall try to ascertain and report as accurately as possible the effect of Moscow radio's bombardment of the colored peoples of Asia, Africa and the Pacific regarding the Ku Klux Klan, Senate filibusters, lynching and other denials of justice to American minorities. Far too few Americans as yet are awake to the fact that such episodes here at home are causing American prestige to plummet downward in vast areas of the earth upon whose friendship and resources much of the future prosperity and even the existence of America depend.

It is my hope to talk with Pandit Nehru and other leaders of Indian opinion, with men like Count Carlo Sforza of Italy with respect to the former Italian colonies in Africa, with Jacob Ben Gurion and Chaim Weizman of Israel and other leaders of government, labor, the press and other makers of public opinion around the globe.

I shall be able to give you firsthand pictures of the scene as I see it and perhaps thereby expand our knowledge of what is going on.

Books For Children

Whittler Changes Dog's Personality

"Viking Dog," by Glenn Balch, is among the new books for children which will be available at the Mansfield Public Library Monday. The book is a story of how human beings can change the disposition of a dog. Olaf was a friendly puppy, but a rough handler soon made him afraid of people. Then he became known as a vicious dog and was punished for things before he did them.

A strange man who just sat and whittled gradually broke down Olaf's fear. But a series of events, including a trip and an accident, turned Olaf into a wild dog, hating and fearing men and running with the coyotes, until once again the man who whittled came back into Olaf's life.

A brand new copy of an old book is the offering for the youngest readers this week. The MIGHTY HUNTER is back chasing prairie dogs, rabbits, deer and so on. Berta and Elmer Hader have written this story which has a merry surprise ending SEATMATES by Mary Reely is a good old-fashioned school story for girls in the fourth and fifth grades. Kate had moved into the city and started school late. She was given the only single seat in the room. Every girl sat at a double seat and had someone to whispter with and study with. The story of Kate's different seatmates, of how she made friends, the fun they all had makes very good reading.

A good suggestion for vacation time is LET'S GO TO THE DESERT. Harriet Huntington's book will prepare you for what you'll see if you do go. There are pictures, and interesting information, of a lot of desert things—cacti, Joshua trees, sand dunes, horned toads, scorpions and sidewinders.

The KENE PARTY BOOK is complete handbook of decoration suggestions, all sorts of ideas of parties, games invitations and menus

PAGE FOUR — MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, JULY 23, 1949

Drive carefully tonight and tomorrow—and at least take a look at the new cars being shown.

And to think, it was only forty years ago that a housewife gave up serving bacon at breakfast because it went up in price to 18 cents a pound!

Word comes that an 80-year-old Briton has cut new teeth, grown darker hair and goes on long hikes—but it is not claimed that socialized medicine can do this in all cases.

Presenting the Name of Judge Allen

WHILE other names have been suggested as possible appointees on the United States Supreme Court, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Justice Frank Murphy, one name that might well stand above any that have been mentioned—if qualifications are to be given chief consideration—is that of Judge Florence E. Allen, now serving on the U. S. circuit court of appeals bench in Cincinnati, and former member of the Ohio Supreme Court.

As a Democrat, Judge Allen meets that qualification, but it is on her record of demonstrated ability as a lawyer and in various judicial capacities that her name is here presented as deserving of consideration by President Truman while he is casting about for a successor to Justice Murphy.

Starting the practice of law in Cleveland in 1914, Judge Allen served a few years later as assistant prosecutor for Cuyahoga county, after which she was elected to the common pleas bench in that county. Her next step was to the Ohio Supreme Court, to which she was elected twice, serving from 1922 to 1934, in which year she was appointed to the federal circuit court of appeals, where she has gained further recognition for the soundness of her judgment and keen understanding of the law.

Thus far a woman has never been appointed to the United States Supreme Court, and if this omission is sought to be explained by lack of availability of a person suited to such a high position, that reason no longer holds, for it cannot be questioned that Judge Allen is admirably equipped for advancement to that post.

Jackie Robinson Speaks For Self

COMING so soon after Paul Robeson's expressed preference for Russia's communistic way of life, it is gratifying to note the opposing views expressed by Jackie Robinson, star second baseman on the Brooklyn Dodgers team.

Not attempting, as did Robeson, to speak for millions of American Negroes, Robinson merely voiced his own declaration of faith in his country—the United States of America—when he appeared before the House un-American activities committee early this week.

As commented upon by DeWitt Mackenzie, Associated Press foreign affairs analyst: "That declaration constitutes a moving human document—a notable chapter in the history of our troubled times. It was a difficult task for this young Negro to take the stand and voice an opinion regarding Paul Robeson's statement in Paris that American Negroes wouldn't fight against Russia because they love that country so much."

Unlike Robeson, the Negro singer and actor who also found this a land of opportunity, Jackie Robinson recognizes barriers that have been placed in the way of members of his race, just as did Booker T. Washington, George Washington Carver, and many other Negroes who overcame obstacles and attained greatness.

It is regrettable that what might be even more rapid progress toward elimination of racial discrimination is interfered with by the unwise attitude of persons such as Paul Robeson and others of the agitator type who seek to force an issue which can succeed only through education and broader spread of acceptance of principles of democracy which have not yet come into general practice.

When 'Old-Timers' Come Back

EACH SUMMER brings to communities here and there visits from residents of long ago, back for the first time in many years. They find great changes in the old home town.

Sometimes these old-timers lament sadly the passing of "the good old times". But when they were living in them, they could not get out of those old times fast enough into the new age of electricity, gasoline engines, good roads, and fresh vegetables in mid-winter.

If any old-timers are visiting here after an absence of several decades, here's hoping they find that the changes they see are all to the good, and point that out to the present generation. Modern conveniences sometimes get blamed in advance for a predicted decline of civilization, but in the good old days they were seen as milestones on the path of progress.

Mistaken Ideas About Profits

THERE is an almost unbelievable amount of misunderstanding of how much profit industry earns—and how stockholders and workers fare when it comes to dividing up income.

For instance, a group of employes of representative American corporations were recently asked what they figured the average manufacturer earns in peacetime. Their answers averaged 25 per cent. They were then asked what they considered a fair profit, and here the average came to 10 per cent.

Yet the fact is that over a 20-year period, corporate profits in this nation averaged a trifle more than four per cent annually—well under half of what the workers considered fair, and less than a fifth of what the workers thought was earned.

Pathfinder magazine reminds: "You don't have to fool all the people all the time—just a majority."

It is too much to expect business to "come back"—it will be necessary to go after it.

False Charges Against British Papers

TWO YEARS AGO, a group of Labor members of Parliament who had been journalists by trade raised a hullabaloo about the monopolistic, biased and inaccurate press of England. No doubt, they were indulging in a feeling that many newspapermen in all nations sometimes entertain — a desire to pillory their bosses before an approving nation.

This group of hostile M.P.'s then learned that, despite Labor supremacy, the traditions of England have a way of dealing with such accusations — an orderly, fair and impartial way. A royal commission was appointed to investigate the charges and to report. The report has now been made.

The charges have rebounded in the faces of the accusers. There has been no proved monopoly. There are no serious external pressures. And most of the faults, which no one denies, are shared by proprietors and journalists alike.

It might be well if the American press would overcome its reticent modesty and give this report a full treatment in its own columns. For the same kind of charges have been repeatedly made against American newspapers, not only by irresponsible radicals but by high government authorities.

The late President Roosevelt, sincerely or not, held the notion that newspaper owners dictated, with a precision that would be fantastically impossible in practice, every fact and opinion published in their papers.

I remember on one occasion that Harry Hopkins poured out a story to the eager ears of his boss that every morning after the President made a speech the Morgan partners would hold a meeting and, after deciding on a reply, would telephone their orders to the editorial writers of the big New York papers.

* * *

What Really Happened.

THE FACTS, which I verified for my amusement at the time, were that the Morgan partners held meetings at 11 o'clock; that many of them had not had time to read the President's speech; that they had financial headaches to treat; that they had enough to do without trying to write editorials; that the oilers in the editorial offices had deadlines to meet and had to figure out their own opinions; and, finally, that in any decent newspaper office anyone making such a suggestion, even a Morgan partner, would have been told about the nether regions as a place to move for permanent residence.

But Roosevelt happily entertained such fantasies and often made public his accusations of bias, monopoly and external pressure. President Truman, more mildly and in better humor, has made complaints of the same nature.

The British commission reports that "nothing approaching a monopoly" exists and that in the past 25 years there has been a strong trend away from concentration in national newspapers. The appearance of monopoly comes from mass circulation.

The report exonerates the publishers from blame for bias or inaccuracy and states that such defects arise from the conditions under which news is gathered and printed and from the writers themselves.

Ironically enough, the commission found that the complaining M.P.'s themselves had offered gross violatons of accuracy in their charges and that, when confronted, had little evidence to substantiate their charges.

The report concludes that the press itself should provide means for self-regulation. That, it would seem, is the best remedy for faults which are not denied on either side of the Atlantic.

Frankly Speaking

Up the Hill, Down Again

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — This is a melancholy story. It's the tale of millions of people who marched up a hill, full of hope, shaking hands, and now are marching down again, grim, armed, wary of ambush.

None can see far enough ahead to know wether he will emerge at last in a sunlit plain or lose his way in a dark forest, beset by tigers.

The story can be told in three stages on the march: The United Nations; the spread of communism and the Truman Doctrine; and the Atlantic Pact.

The summer of 1945 was a time of great rejoicing for most of the world. The war was ending. People were talking of a plan—the United Nations—to keep peace maybe forever.

Everywhere the air was full of noble speeches. On July 28, 1945 the U. S. Senate approved the U. N. charter. Russia joined. Britain. France. The others.

The charter opened with: "We the people of the United Nations, determined to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war. . .to. . .live together in peace. . .to unite our strength to maintain international peace and security. . ."

It was a mountain peak in human experience. Man's whole history had been a brutal climb up the jagged slopes to reach that high. It was fine, but it didn't work.

In two years men were trudging down the slopes again. Communism was spreading, chewing up Europe. The West grew nervous, protested, got grim, slowly through its teeth began to say "Go no further."

And on March 12, 1947 President Truman frankly told Russia to halt. He went before Congress and asked and got money to help Greece and Turkey arm to stop communism.

* * *

Result of Failure.

WITHIN two years after our joining the U. N. he was telling Congress the people of the world had to choose between two ways of life: Freedom and terror.

It was in this speech that he laid down the Truman Doctrine which, in brief, said the United States would now take world leadership in stopping communism anywhere it tried to push. He said:

"I believe that it must be the policy of the United States to support free peoples who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or by outside pressures."

"The free peoples of the world look to us for support in maintaining their freedoms. If we falter in our leadership, we may endanger the peace of the world."

Greece and Turkey held off communism but things got worse elsewhere. Communism held its gains, pushed a little more, and on Feb. 25, 1948 swallowed Czechoslovakia.

The Russians and the West couldn't agree on Germany. The Russians blockaded Berlin. The tension grew. Backed by us, the Western nations decided to stand together, not to be overrun or crushed without a struggle.

To make that agreement all legal and binding, the U. S. Senate has approved our joining the Atlantic Pact. It pledges us to go to the defense of Western Europe if Russia attacks.

So four years, lacking a week, after the Senate had approved our joining the U. S., the world is split into two camps, glaring at each other. The opening words of the pact say:

"The parties to his treaty reaffirm their faith in the purposes and principles of the charter of the United Nations. . ."

Nice words. Pious. Written by statemen. But if the U. N. hadn't failed, there'd be no pact today and no need for it.

The next step is getting Western Europe armed, just in case. After that? No one can see that far. The woods are dark and full of strange terrors that no man likes to think of.

Timely Editorial

Teachers, Not Advocates.

In serving notice that it would not attempt to defend known communists among teachers nor try to protect their tenure when they are fired from public schools, the National Education Association (NEA) has taken action that is as commendable as it was long overdue.

What is of equal importance, the association adopted a resolution barring the advocacy but not the study of communism or any other form of dictatorship.

The decision against defending communists in our public school system may be expected to draw indignant protest from the usual sticklers for what they noisily insist should be a liberal interpretation of the law.—Detroit News.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Fact-Finders Study Question of Wages

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

THE FATE of organized labor's demands for a fourth round of postwar wage increases should be known in 60 days.

By that time, the report of President Truman's special fact-finding board for the steel industry will be made. This is the board, headed by Carroll Daugherty, professor of business economics at Northwestern University, which was set up by the President at the eleventh hour last week to avert an industry-wide strike by the United Steel Workers.

Daugherty, with two other board members, will hold hearings in New York starting July 28 on the union's wage, pension and insurance demands. These have not yet been formally made known, although some union leaders have said the steel companies could raise wages 20 cents an hour without being required to raise prices.

The union also wants substantial pensions, and a program of life insurance, hospitalization and surgical benefits and sick and disability pay, all financed by management.

Says Wage Boosts Would Hurt.

The big steel companies insist, however, that any wage boosts now would hurt the national economy. President Herman W. Steinkraus of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce stepped into the discussion this week with a statement that "prosperity cannot be coaxed back by forcing higher wages, and it seems a very poor time to put such an added strain on American industry."

Steinkraus answered the recent report by Economist Robert Nathan of the CIO which maintained that most corporations could increase wages without increasing prices and should do so to increase national purchasing power.

A fourth round of wage boosts would benefit only some 3,000,000 workers in certain industries, according to Steinkraus, and would result in the closing of many plants "which simply could not afford to pay those higher wages and keep operating."

"Higher wages for a few and higher prices for the rest is not the answer," he said. His program calls for labor to forego wage increases and for business to cut prices as fast as it possibly can.

At Home

The Quaker Way.

Can the United States and Russia live together in lasting peace? If so, how?

The American Friends Service Committee — an organization of the Quakers — studied those questions for six months. This week they gave their tentative answers.

Yes, they said, peace is possible.

They urged that the United States lead the way to world disarmament by putting its atomic bombs under U. N. seal. There should be a new effort to settle the German problem in which "the Germans themselves, under four powers' supervision, would take the initiative in preparing a constitution and government for the whole of Germany." The U. S. should resume "normal exports" to Russia and eastern Europe.

The report rapped the Soviet refusal to participate in the Marshall Plan.

Quick Cancer Test.

Two medical researchers at the University of California claim they have developed a quick blood test to determine the effectiveness of cancer treatments.

Their new technique, which is said to cut down the time needed to show the growth of cancer from the several years required by present methods to a day or two, is now being used by the Birmingham Veterans Administration hospital. It promptly detects any change in the patient's condition, showing whether there is a speed - up in the spread of malignancy or a sudden development of resistance.

The university says that previously the only way of determining if cancer treatments were effective was how long the patient lived after the treatment. "This new check," it says, "may enable doctors to save many such victims by catching the malignancy when it first crops out again, enabling them to cope with it before it gets out of control."

* * *

About Sweet Teeth.

What causes tooth decay? Recently there has been growing support for the belief that sweets do it by encouraging mouth acids. Now, says a researcher at the Harvard School of Dental Medicine, this may not always be so.

Dr. Reidar F. Sognnaes of the Harvard staff experimented on hamsters, rats and mice. When he fed sugar to adult animals, it failed to harm their teeth. But when sugar was fed to the mothers of unborn animals, or to young animals before their teeth developed, it resulted in bad teeth.

Abroad

Red War On Religion.

Religion's fight against communist encroachments has spread throughout the European continent. It is shaping up now as a no quarter war to the finish.

The Vatican has developed its stand after growing restrictions behind the Iron Curtain, the imprisonment of leaders like Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary and Communist attempts to seize control of the church in Czechoslovakia.

Now it has ruled that Communists or Communist sympathizers no longer can be regarded as Catholics entitled to the sacraments.

Present focal point of the Church vs. Communism struggle is Czechoslovakia.

Slicing the Dollar.

The British Commonwealth took steps this week to halt England's growing dollar crisis. Meeting in London, the finance ministers of seven British dominions and Southern Rhodesia agreed to a reduction of about 25 per cent — or about a quarter of a billion dollars — in their annual spending in the western hemisphere.

The United Kingdom already had announced it would reduce its own dollar spending by 400 million. With Australia, New Zealand, India, South Africa, Pakistan, Ceylon and Canada extending the move, the total cut will run to about $650,000,000 this year. Canada also will be hit by the reduction but it approved it nevertheless.

Germany Votes Again.

Germans will observe a momentous day in their history in three weeks . . . the first federal election in their country since 1932, the year Adolf Hitler came to power, and the election which will set up the new German federal republic re - uniting all the occupation zones but the Russian.

There are two major parties in the field, one advocating socialist policies akin to those of Britain's Labor government, and the other modelled along the lines of the private enterprise advocates in the United States. Communism is too weak in the western zones to be a major issue.

The Germans will elect 400 members of the new parliament, the Bundestag, who will in turn name the chancellor who will organize the new government. Women voters will decide the issues; of about 25 million eligible to vote, they total 65 per cent.

Washington Calling

Behind Atomic Scenes

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE WEIRD and wonderful things that happen in this capital must convince even the most skeptical that truth is indeed stranger than fiction. You could not ask for a better example than the investigation of the Atomic Energy Commission, with its attendant alarms and excursions.

A point has now been reached at which it is possible to see what the final outcome is likely to be — barring, of course, some new sensation either real or synthetic. But, first, there should be recorded a tragic comedy of timing, which throws an ironic light on the whole affair.

In early May of this year Chairman David Lilienthal had decided to resign from a position that had become increasingly wearing and difficult. It is hard for most of us to conceive of the weight of such a vast responsibility.

Quite apart from the aspect of secrecy and security, the far-flung enterprise calls for the most careful and ceaseless supervision. It is enormously complicated by the strict secrecy maintained over every phase of the project with its 65,000 employes.

On a sensitive and highly intelligent person such as Lilienthal the awareness of the goal of all this effort must press down constantly. The goal is to increase man's power of destruction to a degree hitherto undreamed of. As several witnesses "for the defense" have testified, the Atomic Energy Commission has pushed the development of atomic weapons to such a point that today they are far more destructive — the ratio of increased destructiveness is a closely guarded secret — than the primitive bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

These considerations, plus the feeling that the civilian commission was now well established, led to Lilienthal's decision. It was discussed with officers of the bureau of the budget and with one of the President's White House advisers. The next step would have been discussion with President Truman about timing.

Hickenlooper's Attack.

AT THIS POINT, on May 22, Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper, ranking Republican member of the Senate-House atomic committee, fired what some of his Republican colleagues refer to as his blunderbuss. Immediately it became impossible for Lilienthal to resign, since he would have been resigning under fire with the implication that he had been driven out by the Hickenlooper charges.

Therefore, he stood his ground. In the highly publicized investigation that followed, Hickenlooper's charges were not sustained. The overwhelming majority of opinion as reflected in newspaper editorials and elsewhere was on the side of Lilienthal and the commission.

Later, competent witnesses "for the defense" testified to the substantial progress made under the civilian commission as contrasted to the status of the project when the AEC took over. At present in closed sessions certain secret phases of the inquiry are going forward.

Soon the Senate-House committee will get down to writing a report containing its findings. A great deal of political pulling and hauling will come before that report is issued in final form.

There is little likelihood that it will sustain any of Hickenlooper's major charges embodied in the shotgun phrase, "incredible mismanagement." But any report that most Republicans would sign will contain criticism of the commission. In other words, it will be a "Yes, but. . ." document. Hickenlooper, joined by one or two other members, will have his say in a minority report.

Then shortly after the end of the year the probability is that Lilienthal will carry out his intention to resign. Thanks to Hickenlooper, he will have served considerably longer than he had originally planned.

Dave Boone Says:

A NEW YORK high court has ruled that without a written permit from the landlord a person can't erect a television aerial on the roof. Well, those TV aerials are no ornaments to any property, but you can bring on a war by telling a tenant he can't have one.

* * *

When a tenant looks for a flat today, he looks for something with five rooms, a bath, Milton Berle, break the bank, and hot-and-cold vaudeville.

* * *

He will forget about the southern exposure, the plumbing, and the view if he can have the right size screen and an aerial that will help remove the "snow" from the baseball pictures.

* * *

The judge who handed down the ruling added that he thought landlords were unreasonable in forbidding aerials; that won't help. A landlord never expects a kind word, anyhow.
